Home Page: Toolbar Icon to remove and move the menu bar quickly. Desktop recovery is the closest to a miracle, and when the OS decides to leave you no other choice, you have to face it with all the strength you can muster. In most cases, when it comes to Mac OS X, the files and folders get severely damaged and a new installation becomes the only solution. However, just because this is the only way out of the situation, there is still hope, and with the help of an experienced Mac tech, you might be able to restore your important data, without the necessity of an official data recovery tool. The first thing you need to do is start the process on a different drive. The worst thing that can happen in this case is that the operating system can lock the drive, so it's a good idea to format it and start from the beginning. Another thing you should be prepared to pay attention to is that during the recovery process, it might ask you a lot of questions, especially regarding the time and the data that you need to restore. An experienced Mac user might be the best choice, but if you don't know your way around the system, there is still hope and you can't miss the chance of a successful recovery. Start by making sure that you have a backup, just in case something unexpected happens. It is important that it's a good one, since the loss of a day's work is nothing to laugh about. You should find out if you can use it for the recovery process, as otherwise the 80eaf3ab8
