
Windev 18 Dump

Hi, Windows 8.1. In a virtual machine running the very latest version of Windows 8.1, I am trying to run the very latest version of indigest. I wish to run the Indigest.exe that comes with the Mp3 converter i am using. I put the indigest.exe in C:\Program Files\RipTool\Latest (obviously i added program and file permissions for rip_tool and windows. Wanted to make sure that indigest is definitely in the c:\Program Files\RipTool\Latest folder and when i try to run the indigest.exe it does not find it. It says it is looking in the right place but it cannot find it. The shortcuts for the program are located in C:\Program Files\RipTool\Latest\indigest. I did add the following line to the: C:\ProgramData\Microsoft\Windows\Start

Menu\Programs\RipTool>Regedit.bat. Line added:

[HKEY_LOCAL_MACHINE\Software\RipTool\Latest\indigest] I can find both.exe's by looking in the regedit.bat file and getting the key according to the number in the end. I do however have to manually find the.exe's if i do not know where the.exe's are stored and if i do know what the.exe's are called, i do not know how to bring up the list or how to get the key. For the.exe's that are created by the.bat files, there is a way to get the registry information by running reg query and instead of manually getting the key, the windows security context is opened for the key when you run reg query. I am currently on Windows 7. I hope someone knows the answer.

How the City of Houston's Notorious 'Hit and Run' Law Is Hurting Criminals KHOU's news cameras caught the chaotic scene last week as Deputy #3894 frantically tried to flag down every vehicle in an effort to document alleged traffic violations. A 42-year-old woman called police Friday afternoon to report that someone had rear-ended her vehicle, knocking her and her child out. The woman pointed out the license plate number of her alleged assailant. The plate number matched the yellow plate of a white rental truck. A few hours later, police found the truck at a nearby Mini Mart. When police searched the truck, they found it was illegally parked. Officers wrote seven violations on the vehicle, including expired tags and improper parking. "It was obviously a criminal act, and it's already been investigated and they've made a driver," said Karen Estrada, a lawyer with the Houston Police Officers Union. "It's a hit and run. I don't know that there's anything in that to justify or excuse a parking violation." But the hit-and-run victim in that case was much less fortunate than this woman. Police say the truck drove out of the parking lot with her and her daughter still inside. KHOU's crime and safety reporter Victor Murphy has done many stories about the hit- 3e33713323
